

GE Computer Department Alumni Association

November 2010 Newsletter

Well, It's Over ...

The Scottsdale reunion has come and gone, and we must say, a good time was had by all who attended. The hotel was great; the meetings interesting; the food just fine; but most of all, renewing old acquaintances was the best part of the get-together.

And as some had predicted, it appears that the Scottsdale reunion may well be our last, at least in its current form. We may move on to regional meetings, or even less formal national meetings, but we doubt that we will have reunions such as these last few.

It is a bit nostalgic to think that we may not do this again. Here are a couple of pictures from the meeting of some of the people who have held the organization together over the years.

Bill Duster Bob Connors Nate Norris

Bill Duster Warren Prince

But Wait ... There's a lot more where these came from!

One of the things discussed at the reunion was our great web site, hosted by Art Coombes and his company, Internet Frontier. It is a tremendous resource that is available for our use. Art has posted many more of the 2010 reunion pictures on the web site, and you are invited to view them at your leisure. Also, if you have pictures to add, send them to Curt Hare at cchare@cox.net and he will have them posted.

So visit <http://www.gecomputerdeptalumni.org/> and enjoy the pictures. Also send us your thoughts on how we might use the site to foster communication to the alumni association.

We want to use this valuable resource, and we need your input as to how best to do it. So give us your thoughts after you have visited the site and enjoyed the 2010 reunion pictures. Send your suggestions to Curt Hare at cchare@cox.net.